WITH THE COMPLIMENTS OF
REUBEN EDWARD ROBIE.

REUBEN ROBIE
AND
NANCY WHITING ROBIE,
THEIR ANCESTORS AND DESCENDANTS.

THAT the younger of my kinsfolk may always have before them the means of tracing their ancestry, and the older members of the family, hereafter without an excuse, for any inability on their part to name their paternal and maternal grandparents, is the only apology I can offer for putting these pages in print.

The work first undertaken, almost as a matter of duty, soon became a most fascinating and pleasurable pastime, even though, at times much difficulty has been experienced, in harmonizing conflicting statements concerning dates of the births and deaths of many whose names are herein recorded.

Such as it is, I give it to the family, believing it to be a correct and truthful genealogy, coupling said gift however with the expression of my wish, that in each succeeding generation some one shall be found, to take up and carry on the work.

The tracing of the relationship existing between our immediate family and the other members of the Robie or Roby family, has given me great pleasure, and those whom I have been able to locate definitely, are inserted in the generation in which they and we have a common ancestor.

For all matters relating to the Robie family ancestry not taken from family records, in my possession, reference has been made to The Register of the New England Historical and Genealogical Society, Provincial Papers of New Hampshire, by Bouton, Farmer's Genealogical Register, Savage's Genealogical Dictionary, Chase's History of Haverhill, Mass., Chase's History of Chester, N. H., Eaton's History of Candia, N. H., American Archives, Series 4 and 5, and to valuable memoranda, furnished by Hon. Frederick Robie, of Portland, Me., Hon. Chas. Tubbs, of Osceola, Pa., Doct. Wm. Patterson, of Newark Valley, N. Y., Doct. John W. Robie, of New York City, Sidney Breese Roby, of Rochester, N. Y., and Hon. William C. Robie, of Franklin, Vt.

As to the Whiting family, reference has been made to the Genealogy of the Whiting family by the Hon. Wm. Whiting, of Boston, the History of the Carter family, published in 1887, by Mrs. Clara A. Carter and Mrs. Sarah A. Carter, and to memoranda furnished by Miss Garfield, of Cleveland, O., in addition to records in possession of members of the family living in Bath, N. Y.

REUBEN EDWARD ROBIE.

THE ROBIE FAMILY.

THE country from which our ancestors emigrated has long been a mooted question, the writer's father claiming that they came from Wales, another from Scotland, but the lines of descent below presented indicate clearly that we are of English descent, and that our branch came from Castle Dunnington—the family seat—in the East riding of Yorkshire, England, about four and a half miles from York.

In the early colonial records of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, the name of the same person, about whose identity there can be no question, is sometimes spelled—Robie, Roby or Robey—establishing to my satisfaction that the Robies and Robys are one and the same family.

FIRST GENERATION.

HENRY ROBIE, OR ROBY, with whom we begin, is supposed to have been born at Castle Dunnington in Yorkshire, Eng., on 12 Feb'y, 1618-19, one writer claiming that he was fifty years old in 1664, which would place his birth in 1614.

He had at least two brothers Thomas and Samuel, the former living and dying at Castle Dunnington, Eng. Of the latter we find record of his having left home for America, and that his arrival here was never heard of. — New Castle N. Y.

Thomas Robie's son William, came to America and settled in Boston—married Elizabeth Greenough—and tradition says they were blessed with fifteen children. Among the living descendants of said William Robie, are his g. g. g. grandson, Sidney Breeze Roby, of Rochester, N. Y., his g. g. g. granddaughter, Elizabeth Roby Doyle, of 91 E. 44th St., Chicago, Ill's., and his g. g. g. g. granddaughter, Miss Anne Mary Roby, of 23 Charlotte Ave., Detroit, Mich.

The exact date that said HENRY ROBIE came to America, is not known. The first that we hear of him is that he was at Dorchester, Mass., early in 1639 ; that he went to Exeter, N. H. the same year, and was one of the thirty-three named in the compact for division of lands there, although he does not appear to have received any himself. On 4 May, 1639, together with other inhabitants of Exeter he signed a petition addressed to King Charles I, declaring their allegiance to him, and to such laws as he should make for the government of the colony, and to such wholesome regulations as they might make for themselves, his name also appearing upon a similar petition addressed to the Governor of the colony, asking that the town be laid out.

In 1653 or 54 he went to Hampton, and in 1662 was constable, on 18 Oct., 1669 was an attorney in a matter before the Court in Boston, on 13 July, 1680, foreman of the Grand Jury, and the same year was one of a committee appointed to prosecute people stealing timber from the town. In 1683, with other residents of Hampton, he petitioned the colonial Governor to be freed from head money, and the same year was elected a member of the Council from this town—and the year following a Justice of the Peace.

For his first wife he married Elizabeth, daughter of Thomas Philbrick, who had previously been the wife of Thomas Chase and John Garland. She died 11 Feb'y, 1677. The full name of his second wife is not known. He died in 1688, leaving his wife Sarah and the following children :

1. Thomas, who was Member of Assembly for the Province of New Hampshire, 1 Nov., 1694, taking the oath as such, 15 May, 1695, and reelected to same office 8 Feb'y, 1703.

2. Samuel, who on 20 Feb'y, 1689, signed the petition of the New Hampshire residents to the Governor and Council of the Colony, asking for protection against the Indians. His daughter Mary married Henry Dearborn.

3. Ichabod, born 26 Nov., 1664, and married on 4 Jan'y, 1694, to Lucy, daut. of Frances Page ; she born 22 Sept., 1672. They had ten children.

4. Mary, married on 22 Dec., 1663, to Samuel Folsom.

5. JOHN, of whom more hereafter.

6. Judith.

7. Ruth.

His will dated 10 Jan'y, 1687, with codicil of 3 Ap'l, 1688, was proved on 5 June, 1688.

SECOND GENERATION.

JOHN ROBIE, OR ROBY, son of Henry Robie, was a soldier in King Philip's War, under Capt. Joseph Syell, and was credited on the books of Haverell, Town, (Haverhill) on 30 Nov., 1675, as having earned £1 and 16 shillings. Part of the time he served in the garrison at Chelmsford, and for like services the next year, under Lieut. Benjamin Swett, on 24 June, 1676, he was further credited with being entitled to 8 shillings and sixpence.

In 1675 or 76, he built himself a house at Haverhill, Mass., in that portion of the town now known as Atkinson, N. H.

He was one of the number of the townspeople who "were against the settling of the meeting house, where the meeting house now stands (forever), but that this meeting house that now is, may stand as long as is convenient."

On 16 June, 1691, about two hours before sunset, he was killed by the Indians. Warned of the impending danger, he had taken his family consisting of seven children, the oldest not quite eleven years old, (their mother having died a few days before), from his own home to a place of safety, and this mission accomplished, while returning with his cart and oxen, he was shot down. His son ICHABOD, who was with him, was taken prisoner and carried to Canada, and kept there about a year, when he was ransomed and returned home.

THIRD GENERATION.

ICHABOD ROBIE, OR ROBY, son of John Robie, born at Haverhill, Mass., in 1680, appears by the Provincial Records of New Hampshire of date of 3 July, 1697, to have been entitled to £2 and two shillings for seven days work on the fort, being erected for the protection against the French and Indians.

He was a prominent member of the Society for settling the Chestnut country (so-called) organized in Oct., 1719, a member of the committee to manage the affairs of the Society, and chairman of the committee to lay out the lots—and one of the petitioners to the Governor of the Colony, asking that they might have a grant of said lands, and one of the proprietors of Chester named in the grant from King George, dated 8 May, 1722, although it is supposed that he never gave up his residence at Hampton Falls. By trade he was a tanner and also a surveyor.

He was a Member of Assembly from Hampton in the Provincial House of Representatives, for the years 1735, 36, 41 and 42, and on 8 May of the last year was appointed by the House as one of the committee to address His Majesty the King upon matters relating to the Colony, and upon another committee to answer the speech of the Colonial Governor, and present it to the House for approval. In the proceedings of the House in many instances he is called Captain.

He married Mary Cass on 13 Jan'y, 1706-7. His will was dated 10 Oct., 1752, proved 26 Sept., 1753, and in it he names as his legatees, his wife Mary and his children :

1. JOHN, b. 1712, of whom more hereafter.
2. Henry, b. 1714, lived on the homestead devised him by his father. He m. Abigail Butler, 9 Oct., 1734, and they had eleven children.
3. Samuel, b. 1717, m. a Perkins and settled on his father's lot No. 116. On 1 M'ch, 1744, he was a Lieut. in the New Hampshire Reg't of which Samuel Moore was Colonel. In Jan'y 1775, he was chosen a Deputy to nominate Delegates to the Congress of May 10 following, and in 1777, was one of the committee of safety for Chester. Among his descendents was his grandson the Hon. Toppan Robie, dec'd, of Gorham, Me., born at Candia, N. H., 27 Jan'y, 1782, and died 14 Jan'y, 1871, who besides having been a Capt. in a militia company of his State which took some part in the War of 1812, a representative in the Legislature of Maine, and a member of the Governor's Executive Council, held numerous other offices of public trust, and made most liberal gifts from his large estates to some of the church and educational institutions of his State.

Hon. Frederick Robie, of Portland, Me., a great grandson of said Samuel Robie, and son of said Toppan Robie, was born 12 Aug., 1822, graduated at Bowdoin College in 1841, from the Jefferson Medical College in 1843, and was Paymaster U. S. A. during the War of the Rebellion. He has represented the town of Gorham, Me., in the State Legislature two years, been Speaker of the House for two years, in the State Senate for two years, a member of the Executive Council for four years, and Governor of the State for four years, 1883-7, and has also served his State with eminent distinction in many other positions. He takes great interest in his native town, Gorham, and has added largely to the bounteous gifts of his father—given to the Church and Schools there—and lately the people of the town have honored themselves by changing the corporate name of their school, and calling it The Frederick Robie High School. He has always been prominent in the councils of the G. A. R. and P. of H. in his State, and at present is President of the First National Bank of Portland, Me.

THE WHITING FAMILY.

THE WHITING'S are a family of ancient lineage in England, and the branch thereof we are engaged in tracing came from the City of Boston, in Lincolnshire, Eng., which had been the chief place of residence of their ancestors, since the sixth year of Edward III, 1333; as well as the home of many of the principal families that came to this country.

The name was variously spelled in England, it being said, that there were sixteen variations in its orthography, between the years 1085 and 1630, without any change in its pronunciation. The English records give the names of numerous members of the family, antedating the time at which we begin this genealogy, but we take it up at a point, from which there is no difficulty in tracing the descent.

FIRST GENERATION.

JOHN WHITING, with whom we begin, was born in Boston, England, the exact date of his birth, not being known. He was a member of the Common Council of Boston in 1590, Mayor in 1600, and Vice Admiral of Lincolnshire in 1602.

His brother Robert was Sergeant-at-Mace in 1631, and was afterwards elected Marshal of the Admiralty, his brother James having also been Mayor of Boston in 1640.

His will recorded in the Parish Register of St. Botolph, Boston, Eng., is dated 20 Oct., 1617, two days before he was buried. He died leaving large landed and other estates. His wife's name was Isabel, and their children were :

1. Isabel, bapt. 10 Dec., 1587, d. 4 May, 1602.

Soon after his graduation he received orders in the Church, but complaint was made against him, for his non-conformity in administering the services, and this afterwards led to his abandoning the Established Church, and joining the Puritan colony in America. He had two sons and one daut. by his first wife, the latter and the sons dying in England, and Dorothy the daut. subsequently coming to America with her father.

On 6 Aug., 1629, he married for his second wife, Elizabeth St. John, daut. of The Right Hon. Oliver St. John, an own cousin of Oliver Cromwell, and afterwards Chief Justice of England. She also was sixth cousin to Henry VII. In coming to America he sacrificed his property in England, refused to retain any portion of his landed estates from which he would have received an annual income, broke up all connection with the land of his birth, "I am going into the wilderness" said he, "to sacrifice unto the Lord, and I will not leave a hoof behind me." They sailed from England in April, 1636, arriving at Boston, N. E., on the 26th of the next month, and on the eighth day of the following November removed to Lynn. The History of the Carter family, published in 1887, by Mrs. Clara A. Carter and Mrs. Sarah A. Carter, gives the name of the daut. of Joseph Carter and Ann Smith, who married said John Whiting, as "Anna," and as the dates of her birth and death given in said History, agree with those in the old Whiting family bible, opposite "Nancy," the name by which the writer's maternal grandmother, was always known in the family at Bath, I conclude that the entry in said History is incorrect.

He was a surveyor and contractor, and in 1804, with his wife and two children moved to Maine, living first at Edington Bend, and then at Brewer, both places being upon the Penobscot River, the former about four miles above, and the latter opposite Bangor. The house in which the writer's mother was born, built by her father in June, 1805, the first story of brick, and second of wood, small and unpretending, facing the river, the highway alone between it and the bank, was torn down in 1872.

In the winter of 1814-15, they came to Bath, living for many years, outside of the village limits, afterwards moving to town, he purchased the property on Liberty Street, where the Beekman Block now stands, occupying it for some years; then moved the house to West William St., living there until his death on 14 Jan'y, 1853—the same now being owned and occupied by Mrs. Lindsay Davison. His wife who was born at Lancaster, N. H., 1 Aug., 1782, died 14 May, 1852. Their children were:
